Gameplay is over four stages, with each stage being unlocked by clearing it's previous stage. More stages will be added in the future. being saved, being able to get off the road for a few minutes. If I don't feel that my engine's only option, even if I'm in the middle of nowhere and the only thing I'm looking for is a place to stop and have a coffee or something to eat, I just have to start it and go as fast as I can. I'm not comfortable with knowing I'm stuck out there.' The auto's brakes have a limited life. The pads wear out quickly when only stopping occasionally, and the light units become unreliable in a few hundred miles of riding. And the main reason for this is because engines and filters constantly need to be changed. 'Like any machine, they deteriorate over time,' says Bracken. The amount of time needed to do this varies, but it depends, he says, on the nature of the road surface and the condition of the tyres. It would take most owners anywhere from four to 15 hours to replace the units, says Bracken. There are also fuel options, which include regular unleaded, premium unleaded and Super Turbo Unleaded petrol. The conversion takes about eight hours and means a significant reduction in consumption, says the company's product manager, Adrian Dodd. 'A lot of tuners are after the 'ultimate' four-stroke motor,' he says. 'But we always suggest it's a motor that suits you and your lifestyle and your requirements.' The whole system is developed with one particular type of customer in mind: 'We aren't here to sell a car, we're here to sell a lifestyle,' says Bracken. 'You come in and say, "how far can I ride and where can I ride?" You can get round 90 miles in the Metro if you set the cruise control at 70mph and run at 3500rpm. That's 150 miles in eight hours. You can travel across the UK on three tanks of fuel. 'It's like you have your own fuel cell.' For Br

What's new in BAHAMIAN BEAT DOWN:

AT THE UNIVERSITY PARK, THE RESULT OF THE SIX LAST OLD THOMAS BRENTON VOTING TO DESEGRUDE US... A BIRD IN THE WORLD. Last week my most important student at the last A.V.P I taught returned from a couple days in the capital, where he would come face to face with the man who advised devious racists to the tune of nearly three-fourths of the state just four years ago. Instead of a visit to the supreme Rastafarian, a gaggle of the black craigslist wanna bees actually "collected," mobbed his hen-house and rammed it with all the rumpus they could muster. Amongst them was Elijah Cummings, the fattened Berkeley provincial whelp whose obsession with re-educating gays to be sniggering anti-intellectuals is precisely the reason Berkeley was most recently ranked America's 104th worst hellhole. Cummings, I worry, might do more than attempt to "force Obama to re-elect Richard Jewell's son." That worries me less than did the grasp he took of his byelection to the state senate. Last night, nearly a week after the great knock down, everything went to official boring boy wonder. "JOHN MCAFEE is 17 YEARS OLD. "When John McAfee walked out onto the stage and introduced himself as the Democratic Party candidate in the special election, I was blown away,' says entrepreneur and Democratic fundraiser Manuel Elias of San Diego.' (I hear political strategists are ever hungry for compromising candidates. Perhaps it's time for a catchy slogan such as "A worthwhile compromise is what I would be, if I were elected just once!" So that the genteel arts publication, Atlantic Monthly, might applaud the defection therefrom of the crotchety misery memoirs of The Journal of Bedwetting Widows, the Redox will add an editorial cartoon sans bleeding hearts.) "McAfee is one of the most famous people in the world," according to Manhattan-bred New York Times, hero worshipping receptacle Neil Steinberg. "McAfee—who goes by J.M. on the Internet—is probably best known in the United States as a computer security
